

Sample Interview Questions

---

1. Why would a woman want to know what men talk about when they leave the room?
2. Why do you think this book makes some women so angry?
3. Who is the greatest enemy to women in business?
4. How do men respond to this book/topic?
5. Why did you decide to write this book?
6. Who did you write this book for?
7. What does the term “Deep Six” refer to?
8. How does a woman know if she has been ‘deep sixed’?
9. What type of woman most responds to this message?
10. Are there women out there that disagree with your language?
11. What do your friends say when you are on the golf course with them?
12. Do you ever regret writing this book?
13. What question do you hear most often from crowds you speak to?
14. Do you ever face hostility from a crowd you are speaking to?
15. BusinessWeek referred to you as the “Shock Jock of Business Management”. Does that title fit?
16. Don’t women already know a lot of this stuff?
17. From reading the book, what can women gain?
18. From not reading this book, what are you suggesting women can lose?
19. What does the term “breeder” refer to?
20. How does a woman truly achieve equality in a heavily male dominated workplace?
21. What’s the hardest part for you of this type of work? What’s the best part?